

Preparing for 2018

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year! I hope you all have had a great year and a great time with family and friends for the Holidays. Like most people do, around this time of year, I have reflected on all that has happened this past year. I graduated from Trinity Baptist College and started the Missionary Partner Development Process. I have met many churches and individuals all over the East Coast. We planted the second church plant in Togo and saw a 105 people come to Christ in one day. I have recently been spending time in prayer, looking forward to the coming year. I am confident that this is going to be the best year yet! I will be heading to Togo for 2 weeks to do some filming on December 28th.

Here is what God is doing:

I have made it to the 21% mark!

I am so excited to announce that I have reached 21%. I am excited about the new year and what God is getting ready to do.

Thank you to all the latest partners!
We truly are better together.

Satan and his forces are real and powerful, but nowhere near as powerful as my God! Here is a story of an experience I had in Togo last December.

Heading to Togo:

As you are reading this I will be in Togo. I am heading there for about 2 and a half weeks on December 28th and returning on January 15th. We are shooting film for our new initiative in Benin that we hope to be launching in the near future. I will also be shooting film for a personal video that I will use in the partner development process. Please be in prayer with me on this journey!
