

March Madness

March has been one of the most eventful and productive months of my journey. God has really gone before me in and provided in so many ways. I have felt more and more movement this month and excited to see what God is going to do next!

Here are some highlights from March:

I have reached 22% funded:
I am just under 23% still, but there has been a lot of commitments that have not been able to be factored in yet. I am confident that God is moving through this journey.

East Pointe Church:

Bradenton, FL Trip:

I had the opportunity to return home and connect with family and friends and show so many what God is doing in Togo. God did so much during this trip and has provided more opportunities to return.

Togo Pastors Conference:

A pastors conference was held in the beautiful mountains of Togo in March. This was a time where pastors from all over Togo and neighboring countries gathered together to prepare for future church planting movements. God is moving int Togo in a big way!

I had an incredible time at East Pointe Church's missions conference at the beginning of March. It was a week of sharing all that God is doing in Togo alongside some incredible missionaries to Ecuador and Tanzania. I am happy to welcome East Pointe Church to the growing team!

Northeast Trip:

While friends were hitting the beach for Spring Break, I trudged into the very snowy and cold Northeast. Let's just say that I am thankful I was called to a tropical climate... Despite the weather it was a great time to connect with churches and individuals. I had the opportunity of speaking at CenterPointe Community Church in Wethersfield, CT. I also had the opportunity of meeting new churches and people in Massachusetts.

Let me know how I can be praying for you
